We are hosting an action-packed one (1) day event that promises to help you get smart with mail and up to speed on issues related to the United States Postal Service.

Hear the live National PCC Day address from Postmaster General Jack Potter

Our Keynote Speaker is Jo Ann Feindt, Vice President Operations, Great Lakes Area. In addition, you will have the opportunity to earn a Mailing and Shipping Professional Certificate. Attend three (3) information-packed business sessions and the live broadcast. This type of event is offered to you at a fraction of the cost required to attend a National Postal Forum.

Space is limited—complete the form and reserve your spot today. (Credit cards accepted)

BUSINESS SESSIONS

#1 Package Services - Explore all the shipping options the USPS has brought to the marketplace. From Express Mail to Media Mail, we'll fill you in on the benefits of each service. Find out about savings opportunities like volume and commercial discounts, customized agreements and other key opportunities that will enable your business to reduce costs. Learn about opportunities in the growing returns market and how services such as Returns, Recalls, Recycling, Repairs and Recovery can drive repeat business and increase your profits. See why the USPS is not only a great value domestically, but should be your only choice for international shipments. Not knowing what options are available is like throwing money away. Whether you're shipping across the street or around the globe, even if your business ships just one package, you can't afford to miss this session.

#2 Results-Driven Marketing in a Down Economy - Marketers from various industries are feeling the pinch of belt-tightening with their budgets. Learn how many companies are using Advertising Mail as a cost-effective means to target current customers and prospects -- even in a down economy. Attend this session to hear about the current economic landscape, recession spending in action - a look back in history, survival guidelines for marketing during an economic downturn, results driven marketing through direct mail and hear case studies from some very well known companies.

#3 Feedback from Intelligent Mail - Start-the-Clock and ACS™ - How can your company benefit from implementation of the Full Service Intelligent Mail Barcode? When you choose the Full-Service Intelligent Mail option, you receive Start-the-Clock and Address Correction at no charge. These mailings receive indication of when they were presented to the Postal Service, as well as address correction information which will improve the quality of your addresses. Listen to feedback, learn data elements and consider options for data distribution. Hear first hand from a mailer who is benefiting from the information gained from Full Service IMB.
